the different names of Pushkaramulani (root of Aipotaxis auricuiata\ Yi!Ua, Dhanvayasa and Dushparshk are the synonymes of DuralabhS, (Alhagimaurorun Fogonia Arabira) Vkguji and Somavalli are the names of Somaraji .'Serratula Anthelmintica). Markara and Kesharaja are the synonymes of Bhringar&ja (Wedelia Calendulacea*. Edagaja is another name of Chakramarda (cassiatora). Sarangi, Tagara, Viyasi Vela, Tanduliya and Ghanastana are the name? of Mahi-kila. Tiktatumbi and Tiktalivu are synonymous with Iksh&ku (Bottle gourd, wild variety of Langenaria Vulgaris.) Koshktalu and Jkminy are but the different names of Dhi-mirgava (Laffu Aegyptiaca), Vidyut, which is another species of Dh&m&rgava is also called Kritabhedanam, Jimutaka, Khuddaka, and Devatadaka. Gridhr^dana is another name of Gidhranakhi, which is also called Kakadani and Hingu (caparis Sepiaria). Ashvkri and AshvamSraka are but the different names of Karavira (s\veet_scented Oleander-Nerrium odorum}. Tarasi and Kushaja are the names of Kapithhapatri (Beng Elvaluk). Sindhu, Saindhava, Sindhuttha and Manrmuntha are the synonymes of Rocksalt. Ushara, Yavagra and YavakshHra are the terms which denote a kind of impure carbonate of potash Jit. ashes of burnt barley straw); SarjikS and Sarjkkkshkra are the names of barilla. Shikhi-kanth&bham Chitrakam, Tuttham etc., are the terms which denote nitrate of Copper- K&shisham, Pushpakishisham and Ne'tra bhesajam (lit eye-cure) are the terms which signify greet Sulphate of iron. K&shisha and Dhatu-Kashisha are al$a th< different names of the foregoing substence. Tkpyam an< T^pyutha-sambhabarn are synonymous with Makshika (iroi pyrites). Naipdli, Kulati and Shili are the different namei *of Manah-shil^i (red sulphate of arsanjc), while the terms Alan and Manahstalam signify Haritilam (tri-sulphtde of arsenic) Gandha pashana is but another name of Gandhaka (sulpkar; while the term Rasa is used to signify Pirada (Mercury-fit :—that which beers a person beyond death and disease).